Product description

A large forged statue of the Smaug dragon flying above the tower, made of stainless steel. Both the dragon and the tower are accurately reproduced from the movie The Hobbit.

The statuette is completely handmade, all details are of the highest quality, and all colors are obtained in the natural process of steel processing - no artificial paint. The sculpture is assembled from several parts for convenient transport - the dragon is unscrewed from the tower by a bolt, and the tail is unscrewed also unscrewed from the body. Disassembling makes it very easy to transport and carry because the statuette is large - the dragon's wingspan is about 38 inches, the length of the dragon to the tail is about 37 inches, the total height is 27 inches, and the weight is 22lbs.

On request, we can also freely modify the dimensions or pattern of the statuette.
